COLLEGE NOTES.

Dr. Bondurant Delivers an Able Address in New Orleans.

The young ladies of the College for Women had a delightful guest at their chapel exercises Wednesday, in the person of Dr. W. E. Hall, who was in Tallahassee enroute from Quincy to Monticello, in both of which places he was scheduled for a lecture. The college faculty hope to arrange to have Dr. Hall return here the latter part of the month to give an address to the students.

Dr. B. C. Bondurant, of the chair of Latin and Greek, received very flattering notice by the New Orleans press during his recent visit to that city. Dr. Bondurant attended the recent session of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South at Tulane University, and made an address before the association on the "Status of Classics in the South." His address met with hearty applause, and won him high encomiums from the scholars associated with him on the program. On this program appeared such names as those of Dr. Paul Shorey, head of the department of Greek at Chicago University; Dr. W. F. Shipley, head of the Latin department of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Andrew West, dean of the Graduate school at Princeton, and others of equal prominence.

Dr. Bondurant has been called again to the chair of Latin at the summer session of the University of Colorado, and Dean Heathwold has been re-called for summer work to the University of Virginia where he will teach the Theory and Art of Education.

The Florida Spring Normal has opened up with a splendid enrollment of young women who are taking hold of the work in a way eminently satisfactory to their teachers and advantageous to themselves. Dr. Murphree says that the outlook for this department of the college has never been so bright.

STATE MUSIC TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Will Convene in Tallahassee on April 14th, Dr. A. A. Murphree, President.

The Florida State Music Teachers' Association, of which Dr. A. A. Murphree, of the Woman's College, is president, will convene in Tallahassee on the 14th day of April, and continue in session three days.

This association, notwithstanding its name, is not restricted in membership to those persons whose vocation is to teach music, but invites everybody into its ranks who is interested in the beautiful art and its cultivation among the people at large.

The association comes here as guests of the Tallahassee Music Club, the members of which are arranging a program for their entertainment. The club hopes to make the principal feature of the program an artist's concert to be given by the renowned tenor, Mr. Reed Miller, who will attend the Music Festival in Jacksonville, a few days later.

Another concert will be given by the music faculties of the various State schools and music clubs and perhaps by the Tallahassee Music Club, assisted by the club at Quincy, when the oratorio, "Holy City," will be rendered. The local club expects that its friends will assist in upholding Tallahassee's reputation for hospitality and the encouragement of all efforts tending toward the culture of its citizens.

REV. COLLINS' STATEMENT

That Two-Thirds of Legislature Stand for Prohibition Amendment Stands Unrefuted.

Superintendent Charles L. Collins, of the Florida Anti-Saloon League, has just issued the following statement from his office in Jacksonville:

"At a mass meeting in the city of Tampa, on Sunday afternoon, February 21st, it was my privilege to give a short address to a large company who had gathered there to listen to Rev. P. A. Baker, D. D., the National Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League.

"In discussing the situation in the State of Florida, I touched upon the complexion of the next Legislature as bearing upon the present liquor situation in the State. I made the statement that more than three-fifths of the members-elect of the Legislature are pledged to support the resolution to submit to popular vote, a prohibition amendment to the constitution and that of the members so pledged, all but three have willingly written this office over their own signature, of their purpose to stand by the amendment proposition.

"On Wednesday, the 24th, inst., a Tampa paper editorially attacked my statement and practically challenged me to produce the proof of it. I immediately wrote the editor of the Tampa paper, repeating my statement of last Sunday and stating again that we have the letters I claimed to have on file in our office. I went so far as to offer to the Tampa paper, to submit these letters in question to a committee of three prominent clergymen, representing as many denominations, and offered to stand or fall as a man of veracity, by their findings in the case.

"I am asking that the newspapers of the State to give space to this statement, for fear that some of our friends over the State may see the editor's attack and may not see my article in reply.

"The liquor people of the State are at liberty to get whatever comfort they can out of the present legislative situation in Florida, and I do not blame them nor the newspapers which they control, for trying to keep up their courage by insisting that the legislature will turn this prohibition amendment down. I do not want to be understood as claiming that the battle is won, but I simply state that enough men have volunteered to vote in favor of this amendment proposition to carry it through.

CHARLES L. COLLINS, Supt. Fla. Anti-Saloon League.

IN BEHALF OF ORPHANS.

Mrs. Levy Visits Tallahassee in Their Interests.

Mrs. J. C. Levy was in Tallahassee yesterday in the interest of the Children's Home Society of Florida. This work appeals to every man and woman who loves children, who pities the innocent unfortunate who cares for the future welfare of the State.

The old plan of sending children to orphanages is passing away as unworthy of our higher civilization. There are many good homes and loving hearts ready to receive the homeless little ones. This noble society undertakes to bring them together.

Since the organization of this society in the State nearly every county has been represented, either in giving or receiving a ward or wards of that society, nearly two hundred children have found good homes in the State at large. No nobler or more beneficent work could be done.

Hon. Cecil Wilcox is president; Messrs. D. U. Fletcher, W. W. Cummer and Dr. R. H. Dean, vice-presidents; Judge W. H. Baker, counsel.

Mrs. Cora H. Seaton, State Superintendent, headquarters, room 5, Astor building, Jacksonville, Fla., where Mrs. Seaton will always be glad to know of any child in need of the aid of the society. The age limit is fourteen years. Any white child who is destitute, neglected, ill-treated, abandoned or orphaned is eligible to its care.

The active interest of such men as compose the officers and directors guarantees the high purpose and pure methods of the work.

Dr. Armstrong Coming.

Dr. E. H. Armstrong, the noted eye specialist of Jacksonville, will be in Tallahassee, at the Bloxham Hotel, April 5th, one day only. He will make regular visits here in future, coming every sixty days.
